HURON VALLEY INUNDATED WHEN DAM BURSTS

MAN WHO ESCAPED MORGAN COUNTY JAIL RETURNED TO PRISON

Moore Again Is In Cell With Indications Lock Will Hold

CAUGHT MONDAY NEAR HARTSELLE

Officials Believe That Door Will Prevent Future Escapes

Eulie Moore, who departed from the Morgan County jail several nights ago, in spite of the fact that he had no such permission, today was back in the jail with indications he would encounter a great deal more difficulty in leaving abruptly the next time he feels the urge to travel.

Moore, who was charged with burglary and who was held in jail pending the outcome of his appeal from a conviction in the local court, was captured late Monday afternoon near Hartselle by Deputy H. M. Wiley, Deputy W. S. Poole and the Hartselle traffic officer. The capture was made "on the edge of Hartselle," it was reported here today by Deputy Ben Poole, who has been working on the case for several days and who has been directing the search for the missing man.

Moore, along with three other white men, made his escape from the local prison by cutting the lock on the door of the main cell, and then digging through the brick outer wall of the main building. The latter wall is not difficult to penetrate it is said.

Deputy Sheriff Ben Poole called attention today to the fact that the lock on the main cell door has been rebuilt by N. W. George, local locksmith, in such a manner that officials believe it will be next to impossible now to open it from the inside. The steel clutches which hold the massive door in place, when the lock is shut, now have notches cut in them, which grip other parts of the lock.

To open the lock now without the key would necessitate the tearing to pieces almost of the entire mechanism officers believe.

Deputy Poole was hopeful that other members of the band which escaped would be captured soon.

BROOM FACTORY BEING ENLARGED

More Room Needed For Increasing Output of Local Plant

The building, housing the Albany broom works, on Moulton street, is being enlarged to give additional room to this rapidly growing local industry.

A. A. Hardage, of the company, announced today that workmen are completing an addition to the plant, which will give the factory a great deal more floor space.

Installation of new equipment, at this time, is not contemplated, he added, but plans for the future call for additional machinery to increase the output which already is close to the maximum mark.

Albany made brooms now are being sold over an extensive territory and are being received with a great deal of favor by North Alabama housewives.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH ENJOYS GROWTH

Many Are Added to the Membership On Easter Morning

The First Christian church is enjoying a steady and splendid growth under the able leadership of Rev. N. R. Edwards, pastor and Supt. R. L. Maury.

In preparation for the winning of souls on Easter, a week of prayer was observed by the Woman's Missionary Society. These meetings were held at the homes of the shut in of the church. As a culmination of these meetings, a sunrise prayer meeting was conducted on Easter morning at the church which was beautifully decorated.

Mrs. Frank Gray was program leader of this impressive service. The people went away with glorified and uplifted hearts.

At 9:45 o'clock Bible school was begun. All classes were well represented and at the close of Bible school six responded to the gospel appeal. The teachers made this possible by their special evangelistic work among their pupils.

A packed house was in attendance at the eleven o'clock service. Special music was rendered and a forceful gospel sermon on the resurrection was delivered by the pastor, at the close of which two accepted Christ.

The Bible school rendered an Easter program on Sunday evening. Every class, from the beginners class to the adult classes, had a part in this service. A large audience was present to enjoy the program. A substantial offering was given for the Ministerial Relief. After this there were two accessions, making a total of ten for baptism.

Memorial Service Held In Falkville

A memorial service for Mrs. W. H. Dillon, a devoted member of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Christian church at Falkville was held on Sunday afternoon at six o'clock. The service was held at the cemetery and was impressive in its beautiful simplicity.

Mrs. Dillon passed away just a year ago Easter. Her last act was in the service of the society for which she worked so earnestly. The vesper service consisted of the singing of some of the old hymns and recitations appropriate of the Easter occasion by Sherman Abbott, Dorothy Belle Drinkard and Ruth Francis. A beautiful tribute was given by the pastor and his wife, Reverend and Mrs. Abbott in the memory of Mrs. Dillon. Many friends were present upon this occasion.

Accident Victim Is Buried; His Relatives Not Found

SOCIALISTS BALK AT ATTEMPT OF BRIAND TO CREATE CABINET

Herriot Advocates Are Hopeful He Will Get Place In Ministry

BRIAND GIVES UP FUTILE EFFORTS

Will Tell President of His Inability To Form Cabinet

(Associated Press)

PARIS, April 14.—President Doumergue probably will call M. Painleve to the Palace tonight and ask him to form a cabinet.

PARIS, April 14.—M. Briand will decline to form a new French ministry, having been informed by the Socialists that they will refuse to enter his cabinet.

M. Briand will go to the Elysee Palace to inform president Doumergue of his decision.

Opposition to M. Briand in the radical party grew after the Socialistic attitude was clearly defined and there was a growing demand for a revamped Herriot ministry.

Fear that the senate would not accept as premier a man it threw down last week modified the armor of Herriot supporters, who showed a disposition to accept a cabinet presided over by someone else, but in which their leader would have a prominent post.

M. Herriot, they say, is just the man to preside over the important municipal and cantonal elections in May which is taken as indication that they will push him for the post of minister of the interior.

MISS ETHEL LANIER IS ORATORY WINNER

Decatur Student Wins County Contest at Hartselle

Miss Ethel Lanier, of the Decatur high school, today won the right to represent Morgan County in the state oratorical contest on "The Constitution."

Miss Lanier defeated Edward Spurlock, Albany student, in a contest held at Hartselle Tuesday.

Both of the students acquitted themselves splendidly.

Mrs. Cunningham Collapses In Cell

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 14.—Poison was found in the body of Walter Cunningham, 13 years old, which was exhumed yesterday at Valparaiso, Ind., and whose mother, Mrs. Annie Cunningham, is being held in jail at Crown Point, Ind., Dr. W. D. McNally, coroner's physician, reported today.

CROWN POINT, Ind., April 14.—Mrs. Annie Cunningham, of Gary, Ind., collapsed today in her cell in the Lake county jail, where she is being held in connection with the death of her husband and four children, within six years.

She passed into a coma and physicians believed it impossible to remove her to Gary for a sanity hearing, set for 2 p.m.

In a grave in city cemetery here today was laid the mortal remains of a man believed to be S. Evans and who is thought to have resided at one time in Chicago, Ill.

The body was picked up Saturday afternoon late on the railroad tracks north of Hartselle and was brought here by railroad officials, who turned the body over to Brown's undertaking establishment and then started an intensive search to identify the victim and to learn the whereabouts of a son and daughter believed to survive him.

All efforts today to discover the address of the surviving relatives had failed and the unfortunate stranger was laid to rest in the local cemetery with no loved ones present to pay their last respects to his memory.

A telegram received here today from the chief of police of Chicago stated that the police of that city had exhausted every effort to find the son, who was believed to be a plumber in the Chicago neighborhood and the daughter, who was said to be in training for a nurse.

The radio was used last night by the Chicago Tribune in an effort to find them, but no success had been recorded up to late today.

The Chicago police chief telegraphed that he intended using all of the Chicago newspapers today in a continued effort to find the survivors of the man believed to be Evans, and hope was expressed here that this method would result in locating them.

The only clue to identification of the accident victim was a postoffice box number and the name "Ellisville, Miss." written on the margin of a magazine. It was established that the address had been written by a Mr. Glenn, of Ellisville who stated that he gave the address to "S. Evans" a man of about 50 years of age, who had worked for him up to about one week ago.

GOOD WEATHER GENERAL TODAY

Ruth's Temperature Up and Doctors Keep Him In Hospital

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 14.—Baseball fandom today started its annual pilgrimage to National and American arenas for the battles of a six months campaign for baseball leadership.

Fresh from weeks of limbering up in Southern and Western training camps but handicapped also by an unusually long list of injured players, 16 major league teams were preparing for the opening affairs that will bring the national game into the limelight after months of partial eclipse by winter sports.

A quarter million enthusiasts were ready to welcome the return of baseball.

Good playing weather was the prospect in most of the eight opening cities, as the two major leagues dressed for action. The American Association and the Southern Association seasons have openings today, while one game in the International league was on the schedule.

The New York Yankees, the Washington Senators and the Detroit Tigers according to the dopesters, appear to have the edge in the fight for the American League bunting, although the St. Louis Browns, with George Sisler at the helm, are looked upon as a possibility.

Ty Cobb, Detroit pilot, has not been backward in predicting that his team would gather the honors. In the National league, which incidentally, is celebrating its golden anniversaries, the New York Giants, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Brooklyn Dodgers are touted as possible winners with the St. Louis Cardinals as likely contenders.

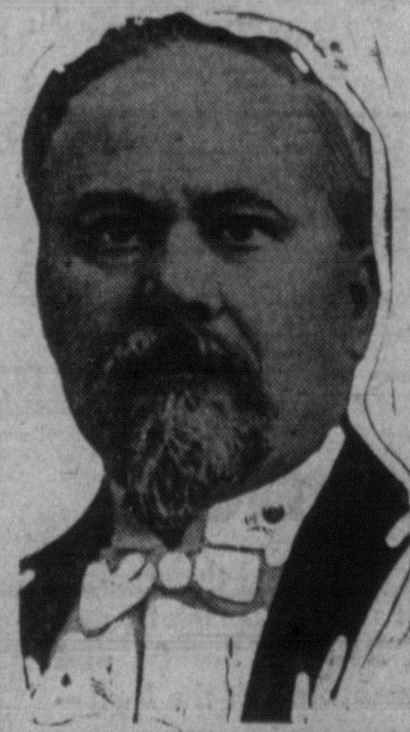

The Senators, last year's world's champions, led by Stanley Harris, were in New York for an opening trout with the Yankees, three times champions of the American League and of the world in 1923.

Baseball's greatest arena, Yankee stadium was the scene of the conflict, which was expected to draw the largest crowd.

The Giants, national league champions, battled the Braves at Boston. The opening series were arranged on a basis of east against east and west against west.

Perhaps the most sorely disappointed among baseball's followers and players was Babe Ruth, mighty Yankee home run bagger, whose plea to be permitted to play in the opener, was met with a cold reception from his physicians, who ordered him back to bed when his temperature still registered at the century mark.

May Be Premier

RAYMOND POINCARÉ

Driven from the French Premiership by M. Edouard Herriot, M. Raymond Poincaré was elected to the French Senate to make war on Premier Herriot. A few days later the Herriot Ministry was overthrown on a vote of confidence, and it was then reported that President Doumergue would tender the Premier's portfolio to M. Poincaré.

THOMAS HOBART IS CALLED BY DEATH Had Been Conductor on Ellenen More Than Half a Century

Thomas Horton Hobart, for more than half of a century a conductor on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, died Tuesday morning at Touro hospital, in New Orleans, where he had gone in search of health about six weeks ago. Mr. Hobart had been ill five months and went to Cincinnati and later to New Orleans in a futile effort to regain his normally good health.

News of the death of Mr. Hobart cast a shadow over the lives of hundreds of people in the Twin Cities, Birmingham and in the intermediate territory, to whom he was well known through his long service on the Birmingham-Decatur accommodation.

Mr. Hobart was about 70 years of age and is survived by three sons, Louis Hobart of Albany and Leonard Hobart of Birmingham; one daughter, Mrs. James Arnold, of New York city. Lawrence Hobart of Atlanta.

Funeral services this afternoon had not been completed but will be held probably in the First Baptist church of Decatur, with interment in city cemetery.

Announcement of funeral arrangements will be made tomorrow.

The deceased long had been a member of the Knights of Pythias and that order probably will have charge of the services.

Mr. Hobart began his service with the Louisville and Nashville 53 years ago and for many years he had served on the accommodation between here and Birmingham. His kindly contact with the thousands of passengers handled by the line won hundreds of friends for him and for the road he served.

"Captain," as he was affectionately known, will be missed deeply on his daily runs and his death will recall to many some little act of kindness of his which did much to erase the discomforts of travel.

Schooner Is Taken With Liquor Cargo

NEW YORK, April 14.—Capture of the three masted auxiliary British schooner Madeline Adams yesterday by the coast guard cutter Seminole, after a chase of 150 miles, off the New York coast, was reported today, when the schooner was brought into port with its crew of nine men as prisoners, and its liquor cargo, valued at $500,000, under seizure.

More than 50,000 Acres Are Reported to Be Under Water

Gauge Steadily Rising As Many Homes Drop Beneath Surface

(Associated Press)

DETROIT, Mich., April 14.—Scores of families in the Valley of the Huron river, between Flat Rock and Lake Erie, were driven from their homes today when the dam of the power plant of the Ford Motor company at Flat Rock burst and released millions of gallons of water into the valley.

More than 50,000 acres are reported under water, which is said to be 12 feet deep in some places and steadily rising.

The valley's inhabitants were warned of the flood by the Michigan state police, who started along the river to rouse persons living nearby, as soon as guards at the dam had telephoned the station of the disaster.

So rapidly did the water rise that the officers soon were forced to take to boats, going thus from house to house with their warning, ferrying scores of families to places of safety.

No lives have been lost, so far as could be learned, although many houses were inundated.

Although the water was high around the bridges of the Michigan Central and the Detroit, Toledo and Shore Line railroads, below Flat Rock, traffic was not interrupted.

The break in the Ford company dam followed the crumbling of earth's embankment that flanked new Detroit-Edison company French landing, several miles flat Rock yesterday.

The dam, which is 32 ft. built partly of concrete and earth. Engineers estimate already 10,000 cubic feet been washed away while day is eating into the earthworks.

The new power plant of company was to have been May 1. The cost of the plant was $750,000.

Herewith is solution to Puzzle No. 153:

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this crossword puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

SINNERS IN HEAVEN

Heart the tired peace of one who, giving up tilting at windmills he can never conquer, lays his hand upon the plow which needs it. If solving the mystery of suffering could never be accomplished; if her own personal keynote to happiness were lost; then content she must be to hold out the hand of fellowship to those companions in bitter waters—to help find it for the world starving for love. . . . Perhaps—who knows?—that is the answer to the riddle.

As darkness fell, she turned down the path over the rocks; crossed the little bridge spanning the river; and made her way to the gray house, from which cheerful lights beckoned. . . .

She fumbled with the handle, turned it; opened the door; then stood for a moment blinking confusedly: for something big and dark had loomed up in the small passage, hiding the hanging lamp. . . .

A great cry burst suddenly from the girl's lips. . . . In the dark she turned ashy white; swayed; clutched vainly at the door-post; and would have fallen, had she not been caught by arms that held her so strongly that they stopped her breath. . . . Alan stood on the threshold.

VIII

It was only a small sitting room, with an oil lamp and a crackling fire. But all the worlds and all the heavens were enclosed within its walls to the two who clung together in their rapture.

Wonderingly, almost reverently, the girl passed her hands over the arms that clasped her—touching the dark hair and bronzed cheek half-fearfully, scarcely believing in their reality, looking upon him with bewildered, darkened eyes almost afraid to trust their own sight. The tall broad-shouldered figure had lost not an inch of its uprightness, nor had the head lost its old dominant poise. The few extra lines round the smiling lips and glowing eyes were swept up into the radiance which seemed to envelop him. Yet, in the dark clothes of civilization, he appeared subtly strange to the half-clad, barefooted overlord of savages of other days.

"Yes," he said at last, catching her hand lightly wandering over his arm. "It's all real. Solid flesh—no ghost!"

He raised her chin in the old possessive way, and looked long into the thin face and dark-ringed eyes, which told their own tale of suffering endured; then he pressed her head to his breast and held her close again in silence, as if defying any fate to separate them now.

"But," she stammered faintly at last, "now is it—why I don't understand?"

"Why I'm not sleeping with my fathers, as you all surmised? Well—that is your fault."

"Mine?"

He nodded. "When Baboona was about to send me to my gods, you conveniently sent him, instead, to the shades of Valhalla—that last bullet, you know!"

Her eyes opened wide, and she caught her breath.

"I—killed him? I—killed Baboona—a man?"

Swiftly he closed her lips with his own, with quick perception of the effects which renewed civilization might have had upon the primitive instincts aroused on the island.

"I owe my very life to you, wife of my heart," he whispered.

But his reflections were misplaced. "Thank God!" she cried unexpectedly. "I would still kill anybody—any day—who attempted to hurt you."

"Nom de Dieu!" he echoed the Frenchman. "Our life will be a checkered career."

Then Barbara fully recognized once more the old Alan of flesh and blood, deep moods and light banter, poetic idealism and prompt action—deliciously human, warm with love and life. She suddenly laughed, the bewildered sense of shock falling from her—the first real spontaneous laugh of many weeks.

"Alan! Alan! Nothing matters but the fact that you are here—alive! But I can't understand it all. How was such a mistake made?"

"Very easily. Because De Borceau didn't, of course, know friend from foe! Things were going all right with us. But when one of the devils set fire to the hut and the friendly spear knocked me out, De Borceau naturally thought all was up. Some of Baboona's lot tried to reach you, but Roowa frustrated them. Then De Borceau was staunch to his oath. He fought anybody who came near you, like a medieval knight, and carried you off to safety. Poor Roowa thought he had stolen you from me, and nearly went mad!" He laughed reminiscently.

"But you? What happened to you? The expedition searched the island. And what became of the De Borceaus when they returned?"

He sank into the big armchair, still clasping her in his arms. "It's quite a fairy story. You remember the wood in the east—where, that first Christmas day?"

"Every leaf!" she breathed.

He smiled into her eyes. . . .

"But not every moss-covered rock. In that wood was a very cleverly concealed entrance to a subterranean passage leading to a kind of vault. This narrowed down into another outlet—quite impassable on the shore, which allowed a little fresh air and glimmers of light. This cave was tabu. In happier days, when the tribe was sufficiently self-supporting—to provide its own meat, the condemned dinner was—well, we need not go into details! But that cave was supposed to be haunted with the spirits of past feasts. Nobody liked to speak of it, or go near it. When I was considered dead, one

EXHIBITS ARRIVING FOR 'EXPOSITION'

Moulton People Will Hold Meeting to Plan For Show

Exhibits for the coming Industrial Exposition are beginning to arrive, and others are on the way. A letter from the Government Forestry Department, Washington, D. C., says that they have expressed material for the forestry exhibit. It will arrive this week.

G. E. Murrell, representing the Southern Railway System, was in the city yesterday making arrangements for the Southern Railway exhibits and will return again inside of a few days. Not only is the Southern co-operating with exhibits but the heads of the development department are coming to the exposition and will give valuable assistance.

Limestone county will be represented in part by an exhibit to be installed by the County Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Blanche Heard. 12 Years Ago From The Daily of April 14, 1913

Circuit court was convened today with Judges D. W. Speake presiding.

Sheriff R. N. McCullough issued a warning regarding Sunday closing.

G. L. Bowles, cashier of the Commercial Savings Bank, left this morning for Richmond, Va., to attend a conference on education.

Russell Van Dyke, Delite Theatre violinist, returned yesterday from Dayton, O., where he had been spending a few days.

Judge William E. Skeggs today appointed a number of prominent citizens as delegates to the good roads meeting to be held in Birmingham in April.

Carter Johnson, negro brakeman, was fatally injured Saturday night at Wilhite, when a train ran over him.

A DAILY PRAYER—We can never forgive ourselves for our sin and failure, but do Thou forgive us because of Thy loving kindness and tender mercy.

English newspapers report that representatives of 37 temperance organizations have recently met in secret conference in order to unite their forces in behalf of local option for the United Kingdom, with prohibition in view as the eventual objective.

A recruiting office has been opened in Room 9, Barge Office, Battery Park, New York, for men to man the new government vessels which are to operate against rum smuggling. This is a splendid opportunity for young men who are vigorous and adventurous and desire to serve their country.

A dispatch from Australia to a London paper says that in view of the forthcoming visit to Australia of the United States fleet, the Anti-Liquor League of Australia is urging the commonwealth government to show respect for the American prohibition policy by providing no intoxicating beverages at official functions. The league also appeals to citizens to refrain from treating American visitors in bars.

"SHORTER BIBLE" PLAN DOES NOT EMMANATE FROM THE PROHIBITIONISTS

A great deal of critical comment has been made in regard to the publication of a so-called "shorter Bible," edited by two Yale professors. In this Bible, in various places, words translated as "wine" in the King James Version, are made to read otherwise. It has been made to appear that this is an effort on the part of prohibitionists to revise the Bible. The publication does not proceed from prohibitionists. It is an honest effort on the part of linguists to give what is felt to be a more nearly correct translation. Whether or not their translation is an improvement, no consideration of prohibition one way or the other had anything to do with it.

It is interesting in this connection to note that the words ordinarily translated as "wine" in the Bible are of different character with varying shades of meaning. It is true that in the condemnatory passages, one word is used and in the commendatory passages another word appears in the original. In the somewhat awkward King James Version they are given exactly the same translation.

SUGGEST DAWES TRIP TO MATCH THE "HIGHER SALESMANSHIP" OF PRINCE

The Chicago Tribune has discovered a report that the Prince of Wales really is a "traveling salesman" for goods of the British empire, and hastens to suggest some sort of trip around the circuit by Vice-President Dawes to counteract the effects of this "higher salesmanship" by the heir to the English throne.

The Tribune says: They say the Prince of Wales is really a traveling salesman for British industry and that's why the British business men are only too glad to pay the bills when he goes globe-trotting. They've the H. M. S. Repulse all slicked up to take him to South America and it's a pleasure to see the good ship shine.

The theory is that when the prince dances with the native heiress, her papa buys his steel rails at Birmingham, England. This seems so reasonable that we ought to copy the idea. There's Charles Dawes, our fellow-citizen, the vice-president, and heir apparent. Before Eddie learned salesmanship he was just like our general. He didn't have anything to do except figure on the big job ahead. When Dawes took his work seriously the senate got red-headed; so they won't care how long he stays away. Let's send him to South America before the prince adds it to the British empire. The first man on the job with a neat line of samples has the edge.

Of course, the vice-president will have to play the game his own way. He'd better not dance too much and we don't seem to recall reading anything about his polo ponies. He thinks squash is something to eat. But in the matter of high power he will make the prince look like a velocipede.

When our Mr. Dawes sets out with his sample case he won't go in a ship named the Repulse. He never heard the word.

LET US ALL HOPE THAT THE LEGISLATORS WILL CONSIDER THE FATE OF RURAL SCHOOLS

News dispatches from Montgomery describe plans for a great gathering there of legislators to discuss the proposed $75,000,000 bond issue for good roads—and education.

Every citizen is more or less familiar with the roads proposition. It is merely a plan for the state to vote additional money to be spent in building improved highways. If sufficient number of voters desire the road building to continue, they will approve the issue at the polls. If the majority do not want the building program to continue, they will make their decision known, and road building will stop. That is a fairly simple proposition.

The educational feature of the gathering is altogether a different matter. Nothing is said in the press reports regarding what form the discussion of education will take, but education, like all other worthwhile civic movements, requires financial backing, and it is more than a ten to one shot that the discussions, if extended, finally will hinge upon the question of obtaining more money for the schools.

There is no reason to begrudge the amount of money it costs the state to operate its educational system, and most of our people would be willing to invest still more heavily in improvement of the educational facilities of Alabama. There is one feature, however, The Daily hopes the legislators, when they get-together, will not forget. That is the condition of the rural schools.

For several years we have been voting large sums of money to the normal schools, to Alabama and to Auburn. The money was needed by these institutions and used to good advantage by them, no doubt. But what of the rural schools?

Is it not the first duty of Alabama to see that every child has the opportunity for at least a common school education, before equipping the larger institutions of learning that a few may receive the blessings therefrom?

The Daily has no quarrel with any of the state agencies which have worked so hard to develop Alabama and Auburn to the highest possible plane of efficiency. The state should lend to these two colleges its wholehearted co-operation in their development, but have we not been forgetful, if not actually neglectful, of the hundreds of little community schools over the state, which have been forced to close after four, five or six months operation, because they lacked the funds to continue the full nine months?

Give Alabama rural schools a full term, every year, and then Alabama's educational progress will be assured. We cannot hope to build an enduring structure by decorating the roof, and neglecting to construct a firm foundation.

MEMBERS OF COOLIDGE CABINET ALL ARE MEMBERS OF THE CHURCH

A poll of the members of President Coolidge's cabinet, conducted by the board of temperance of the Methodist Episcopal church, reveals the fact that every member of the cabinet is a member of some one of the numerous Christian churches.

The memberships are given as follows: Secretary of State, Frank B. Kellogg, Episcopalian. Secretary of Treasury, Andrew W. Mellon, Presbyterian. Secretary of War, John W. Weeks, Unitarian. Attorney General, John G. Sargent, Universalist. Postmaster General, Harry S. New, Christian Disciple. Secretary of Navy, Curtis D. Wilbur, Congregationalist. Secretary of Interior, Hubert Work, Presbyterian. Secretary of Agriculture, Wm. M. Jardine, Congregationalist.

Secretary of Commerce, Herbert Hoover, Quaker. Secretary of Labor, James J. Davis, Baptist.

"In identifying themselves with the Christian church," the board says, "the members of the President's cabinet are supporting civilization as we know it in America."

The example set by these cabinet members is a fine example to the young people of the nation. President Coolidge, himself, is an active church worker. In other words the heads of the American government, as at present constituted, are all churchmen.

Some of the Sunday newspapers carried an article discussing the morals of this much maligned generation compared with those of a few years back. The writer took the position that, at least, lack of morals was not flaunted now as was the case a dozen or so national administrations back. He pointed out that stories of immorality, circulated about well known statesmen of those days had little effect on their political careers, whereas the same stories, if proven today, would ruin the politician in the public's esteem.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

The big business in Florence on Saturday should satisfy everybody that we are not going to blow away just because congress hasn't decided what is to be done with Wilson Dam. And the turning loose of a considerable amount of labor on the government work is also not a calamity that need give us grave concern.

For one thing it is going to give us an opportunity to catch up with our farming that has been all too sadly neglected.

There are many thousands of unkept acres in the immediate vicinity of the city that should be brought back into production. They have been allowed to lie idle because the men and boys who had cultivated them found quicker money in employment at the Dam. They will now have an opportunity to return to their former occupation. And they are going in considerable numbers already. The result will be a larger crop than for many years past.

Public work and private enterprise will take up much of the remaining slack in the local labor situation. There is not going to be much idleness here this season. And when people are busy under present conditions, they are bound to be prosperous.

The calamity howlers may just as well forget this talk about the bottom dropping out of things for it isn't going to happen. Things will move on much as they have been going and, "business as usual" should be the community slogan. Get this storm cellar idea out of your system, Mr. Faint Heart, stay out in the open. Don't waste your time "diggin'" before it's necessary.—Florence News.

ALLEGED VITIM OF ATTACK DIES TODAY

Madge Oberholtzer Is Dead In Hospital at Indianapolis

(Associated Press)
BRISTOL, Va., April 14.—Kenneth Wagner, alleged slayer of Policeman John Smith of Kingsport and Deputy Sheriff Hubert Webb, of Bluff City, who were shot and killed at Kingsport yesterday, was apprehended today and is in the Blountsville, Tenn., jail, authorities here were notified today by telephone.

The two officers were killed and Policeman John Frazier was seriously wounded when a party of five officers were attacked from ambush when they went to an extract plant to quell a disturbance between some men and women.

Two other officers escaped injury. The officers were said to have just reached the scene of the reported disturbance when they met Wagner, as he came over on embankment on Reedy Creek. Wagner is alleged to have dodged behind a tree and opened fire.

Smith and Webb fell with bullet wounds in the chest, both dying almost instantly. Frazier also was shot through the chest and his recovery is regarded as doubtful.

The assailant is alleged then to have taken a horse from Dewey Nelson at the point of a gun. He escaped with Policemen Miller and Gross emptying their revolvers after him.

Assessment List Being Prepared

ALLEGED SLAYER OF 2 OFFICERS CAUGHT

Party Attacked From Ambush and Three Hit By Bullets

(Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 14.—Miss Madge Oberholtzer, 23, alleged to have been the victim of an attack by D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, died today.

Miss Oberholtzer had been in a critical condition for several days, as the result of poison which she told her parents she took at Hammond, Ind., following Stephenson's alleged attack.

Stephenson was indicted on five charges by a grand jury which investigated Miss Oberholtzer's story.

Stephenson is at liberty on a $25,000 bond, pending a ruling by Judge James A. Collins, to squash the indictments which charge battery and assault with intent to kill, assault and battery with intent to rape, malicious mayhem, kidnapping and conspiracy to commit a felony.

Miss Oberholtzer has been unconscious for two weeks preceding her death. She was widely known in public school circles throughout Indiana.

Earl Klarneck and Earl Gentry, alleged to have been companions of Stephenson, are under indictments with him on the charge of conspiracy to commit a felony. Motions to squash the indictments against them also are pending.

NO DEBT AGREEMENT

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 14.—Minister Jay, at Bucharest, has presented a communication to the Roumanian government, calling attention to the fact that the government has negotiated debt refunding agreements with no other nations, but has taken no such action in connection with its debt to the United States.

Crack of the Bat Arouses Americans Today As the Leagues Open the Baseball Season

The hit of bludgeon work otherwise termed as crashing the agate begins today in the various ball yards over the face of this United States of ours. The American fan emerges from his winter shell and begins the exercise of his larynx muscles as the clans gather for their initial victory or defeat of the 1925 season.

In the southern league Johnny Dobbs has Hall or Bennett as his choice to face the Vol'abman, Arthur Olsen. Atlanta has not settled upon her cross fire artist and will pick from Piggars, Brock and McLaughlin as opposed to Chattanooga's hurling artists, Cunningham or Ballou. New Orleans will use "Buzzer" Bill Whittaker against the Bears. Mobile will start Murray. The Chicks will place the veteran Otto Merz on the hill with Cy Warmoth or Morton in reserve. Little Rock will attempt to stop the Chicks with Robson or Caldwell.

One of the big features is the speculation that is going the rounds regarding Everett Scott's appearance with the Yanks. Everett has not been feeling so well prior to the opening classic and it is not officially known whether he will start his 1,292 game. The veteran shortstop has not missed a game since June 20, 1916.

CONSTIPATION means INEFFICIENCY

Watch your bowels! Constipation produces disease, misery, inefficiency, premature old age, senility. Have your bowels moved today? If not, you are constipated. They should act at least twice daily to be healthy. They should be kept open to carry off the parts of food the body does not use, and which, if left in the body, become horrible and loathsome poisons which breed sickness and often fatal disease. If your bowels don't move, they need help badly.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES AT METHODIST CHURCH END

A week of evangelistic services held at the First Methodist church came to an end last Sunday night. Rev. Roy Hewlett of McCoy Memorial church, Anniston did the preaching, and large attendances were in evidence at every service. His preaching was of a very high order, and earnest and forceful. He made many friends during his stay here, who will gladly welcome him back at any time. He left Monday afternoon for his Anniston home, carrying with him the good will and best wishes of every body in the town. Appreciative of his splendid whole-hearted service, the membership made him a present of a nice purse at the eleven o'clock service Sunday.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH HAS EASTER CANTATA

Rev. G. C. Walker and members of his church gave an Easter Cantata Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour. Many appropriate selections of music was rendered on this occasion, the members of B. Y. P. U. contributing in a large way to the success of the service. At night, the pastor and his congregation attended the revival services at the Methodist church.

EASTER SERVICES HELD AT METHODIST CHURCH

Beautiful Easter services were held at the Methodist church last Sunday morning, with Rev. Roy Hewlett conducting the service. The members of the Epworth league rendered several vocal selections especially appropriate for the occasion. Many beautiful flowers adorned the pulpit and chancel railing, and other decorations made a very fitting setting for the services. The sermon of Rev. Hewlett on that occasion was pronounced one of the best ever heard here on a similar occasion.

GOOD FARMING WEATHER CORN AND COTTON BOTH BEING PLANTED NOW

The continued pretty weather has been all that could possibly be asked by the farmers of this section. Rain has come, but not enough to pack the earth and keep the spring preparation from going on. Many report that they are through planting corn, with cotton ground prepared, and could have been planted and up, had they known the weather would have continued warm.

Guano sales are running high, and this will probably see a record year in sales here. A few years ago an analysis of 10-2-2 was the leader. Now they use high grades, and use much more per acre than formerly. Cotton is being planted this week pretty generally in this section and some report cotton up to a stand.

Women Here See That G. F. P. Really Restores Vitality

Many Tell of Remarkable Quick Gains in Weight and Health Since They Have Begun to Use It.

When women seem so anxious to let their friends and fellow women know how St. Joseph's G. F. P. has caused them to gain in weight and strength no further proof of the startling success of this great medicine seems necessary. It is getting to be a common occurrence to hear women, who were formerly thin and frail, gaining strength so rapidly as to astonish them to wonder how it could be done.

When they are asked for an explanation of this unusual change in their condition, they invariably attribute it to the phenomenal medicine, G. F. P. "I am now on my third bottle and have gained six pounds," says one woman. "I have just finished my fourth bottle of G. F. P.," says another woman, who had been so frail and weak that her husband and children were alarmed, "and I have gained nine pounds. I am now able to sleep, eat and work like a normal woman again."

There is a reason for this. The discoverers of G. F. P. believed that some mysterious malady from which women suffer. After years of painstaking search their efforts were rewarded by the discoverers that this malady—Catarrh of the Generative Organs is the cause of so much irregularity, pain, nervousness, headache, pains in the side and back, depression and that awful irritable feeling. It is because of its power to stamp out and destroy catarrh that G. F. P. succeeds in building up flesh and tissue and restoring health, and plenty of vitality.

Delay is dangerous where this dreaded malady is concerned, because it so quickly spreads from one organ to another, breaking down the unfortunate victim's power of resistance and creating a condition which often leads to kidney, liver and bladder troubles, and that run-down feeling which is so prevalent nowadays.
